Let this go down in history as the master stroke of that eminent townsman of ours.

on the Supreme Court bench of this great country that the Geary Chinese Exclusion law is constitutional the legal fact that it is nevertheless impracticable.

It all came about in this way: Ny Look is a big tail Chinaman. At present he lives at No. 34 Fell street. Ny Look is a cook by trade. He has cooked the meals of many Americans, for he was high chief cook and bottle-washer on board a vessel in the United States Navy for over a dozen years. He has lived in this country thirty-four years altogether, counting the years he was in the country's service. Now, Ny Look doesn't gether, counting the years he was in the country's service. Now, Ny Look doesn't believe in Congressman Geary or his law. He speaks English well enough to battle through Peli street life. When the Supreme Court in Washington, despite Mr. Choate's able argument against it, declared the Geary law conment against it, declared the Geary law constitutional, the Chinese Six Companies looked around for another Chinaman with whom to Although Chinamen, as a rule, don't like Americans, they willing to run the risk of being deported to China, away from the land of the bright and alhining coin.

And so they hunted around for another victim. They found one in Ny Look, who dian't care what became of him. He is get ling old. He is nearly three score and ten, and intended in a lew years and gold. and intended in a lew years to go back to China, to die, as all Chinese should die, surrounded by his kinamen. A lew years ahead of time wouldn't make much difference in Ny Look's itinerary, and as long as the United States Government was willing to pay the expenses of his trip he wasn't particular about a couple of years. And so it was all arranged. Ar. Choate said nothing, but you can readily see that he was sawing wood industriously. When the wood was cut and dried Ny Look came on the scene.

He drove down to the Federal Huilding yesterday morning in a cab. Mr. Choate and Maxwell Evarts met him outside the building, put him under arrest, and escorted him to the office of the United States Marshal.
There he was introduced to Marshal Jacobus and charged by Mr. Choate with being a vionator of the Gearry law. Marshal Jacobus took him before Judge Lacombe in the United states circuit court, where Mr. Choate asked the Judge to grant an order compelling the United States internal Revenue Collector to grant Ny Look a certificate. Judge Lacombe said he couldn't very well do this, as Ny Look had been in the courtery before the registry law went into effect and had had time to regsister since the passage of the act.

"Well, what's to become of him?" argued Mr. Choate. "There's no excuse at all for looking him up until he can be deported, as the law requires.
He has had no trial by jury. This poor, lone Chinaman surely means well, doesn't he?
Isn't he law-abiding? Has he had a chance to prove that he should be ahowed to remain here?"

So Mr. Choate went on. He quoted from its valuntous brief which he filed with the

"I understand," he said to a World reporter yesterday, "that this matter is now under advisement, and I suppose we may have instructions any day. Under the law the last day for registeration was May 5. Up to that time only 17th Chinamen in new York had registered. Those not registered are liable to arrest and to be deported, and the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to

Gen. Kei win called attention to the fact that there seemed to be some misunders standing in certain quarters relative to the photographing of Chinamer. The portion of their these requiring that they be photographed has been stricken out.

In Chinatown last night the natives were pursuing the even tenor of their way, as if they had not the slightest fear of being sent back. The theatre was running in tuit blast, with standing room only, and about the shops and market stands there were the usual groups of shoppers and gossippers. Mr. Charles, the Americanized Chinaman who runs a temperance pool-room in Doyer street, was found at the theatre.

"My people," he said, "do not believe that they will be sent back at least not until the Chinese Government's representative has been given an opportunity to protest. It think some of them, particularly in the Western colonies, where there are a good many together, would be apt to renist. The Chinese Union here as well as those throughout the country have their representation in the Six Companies, and the Six Companies are recognized by our Ambassador in Washington. He has been appealed to to interfere, and we expect that he will make a protest to President will go far towards governing our subsequent action."
